

Please do not allow people to start using cell phones while in flight. The people have already shown their inconsiderate behavior in regard to cell phone use, having loud personal conversations just about anywhere, oblivious to anything and anyone around them. I can imagine being stuck between 2 people, inches away from me blathering on endlessly. Now imagine an entire planeload of people doing this for hours on end, with no way of escaping.

Thanks for your consideration,
Bill Lawrence
